

The editors of Confidential Magazine compiled a list of some 300 questions (later pruned to 111) all concerned with sex. Under the title of Confidential Sex Survey, it ran in an issue of Confidential Magazine with no promises of any reward for answering the questions in the survey. The Response was gratifying. Many readers were interested in confiding their sexual secrets. And many more were interested in how they compared with the norm. Confidential's editors have now counted, compiled and analyzed the answers to the survey. Here is a compilation of that survey and the answers given. Answer the questions first and see how you compare.
