How to Invest in Stocks and Develop an Investors Mindset Learn how my stock market investments outperform the DOW and S&P 500. Ask yourself this question; why are you reading this innovation series and what are you hoping to get out of it? The most common reason is because you have a desire to make and grow your money. I must caution that it is rare for someone to make a living just by trading in the stock market; rather the markets are a tool that provides the opportunity for turning the money you have already earned at your day-job into earning even more money. Fear is another common motivator for watching this video innovation series. Everyone has heard of the stock market and the stories of how it can make or break your bank account. It is normal to fear the potential losses but all the while desire the lucrative gains. Im here to ease your market anxiety. Others might have tried their hand at investing but found little to no success. With this course I offer up to you the chance to view the markets from my own perspective and what I have found to be successful. Hi, my name is Matt Bernstein from Low Cost Hustle and there are three main ideas youre going to learn throughout the course of reading. First, an introduction to the market. Whether youre completely unfamiliar with market terminology or not, there is a lot of material to cover here. If youre confident in your understanding of the market concepts and terminology, you may skip to the second section on thinking rationally. But keep in mind that you had to learn all the letters of the alphabet before you write full sentences. Second, Id like to help you get the proper mindset that is necessary for success in the stock market, and that is overcoming your emotions to think in a rational way. I cant even begin to tell you how many stories there are of people who let their emotions get the best of them and lost out for it. Well go through real-life scenarios that will steer you in the direction of a favorable mindset and also provide some history on the markets. Third, I'd like to take you through the process of how I research stocks for my own portfolio, as well as how I maintain a portfolio to meet my own personal goals. I will explain how I have earned double-digit returns year in and year out. Dont Quit Your Day Job Start working on your project at night. Instead of watching TV, work on your business. Instead of going to bed at 10 go to bed at 11. I'm not talking about all-nighters or 16 hour days. I'm talking about squeezing out a few extra hours a week. That's enough time to get something going. If things work for one person it will effectively work the same for any other person. About The Author For the past 8 years, Matt has been studying and experimenting with the idea that you never have to work for anyone else ever again. This is your life and you get to choose how you live it. You don't have to succumb to society's pressures anymore. Go to school, go to college, and get a job. A lot of people rely on that idea and have now gotten themselves into trouble financially. Matt is also the founder of LowCostHustle.com and the goal is to teach you how to teach yourself how to rely on yourself and become financially independent. Most importantly you shouldn't have to spend thousand of dollars to learn. Life is about learning and a great education should be easily accessible for a low cost. Matt's bestselling books include How to Make Money with No Money, How to Sell on eBay and Amazon, How to Start an Online Sports Card Business, and How to Start a Business.
