

Stories from Piaye; The World Through the Eyes of the Children

These stories come from students in the small village of Piaye on St. Lucia, an island in the Carribean. The children, for whom poverty is a way of life, are strong and resilient. English is not their first language. Asked to write fairy tales, the children quickly left the traditional format behind to reveal how their world appears to them with all its love and violence. Their stories will touch you in new and surprising ways.
